

ThoughtAudio.com

Have You Heard These Titles

2010 Resolution: Communicate to Our Global Listeners

One of our New Year's Resolutions for 2010 was to initiate an email program just to let you know there are real people behind the scenes here at ThoughtAudio. As many of you already know, ThoughtAudio is brought to you by the hard work of a few dedicated people who volunteer their time to bring free classic literature and philosophy to people throughout the globe. During 2010 we will continue producing classics and have added a number of new works to the site that you may want to check out including The Kybalion, Around the World in 80 Days and an update for Metamorphosis. Don Quixote is our current large work in progress and we are posting it on line as we finish production on each segment. In addition, we are experimenting with Comedy and more specifically with Comedy Square featuring Wilson & Sanchez. It has been said that comedy is the highest form of literature. Well, we're not sure it ranks with Sun Tzu or Tolstoy, but we hope it provides some comedic relief to our listeners.

Have a good year and keep listening.

Michael Scott
Executive Producer
www.thoughtaudio.com